WALLACK'S THEATRE-"AT LAST.

This new play was successfully produced last hight in the presence of one of the largest and nost brilliant audiences that ever has been Wallack's Theatre. It is of Paul Merritt, who English dramatists. Although the cast is a short one it embraces nearly all the best members of the comwith an enthusiastic ovation. The plot of the where he finds, among the guests, an English so-licitor, an old friend, Mr. Magnum, to whom he tells his story, which is that he had fied from England, where he was wrongly sushe passionately loved, believing him guilty of infi-delity, had obtained a divorce. Roxby causes a reife, who is companion to Mrs. Sparkleigh, enters intimated that she is engaged to be married a Mr. Grandby, brother of the man in hose employ her husband had been. Mrs. Spark-igh is a widow in search of another husband, and iby, who has arrived from London, the bject of his visit being to endeavor to secure the rest of Boxby, the report of whose death he distrusts. Garlan describes a lady whom he had half object of his visit being to endeavor to secure the arrest of Roxby, the report of whose death he distrusts. John Garlan describes a lady whom he had half fallen in love with during a previous visit to the Continent. Just as the curtain falls he is introduced to the divorced wife, and the audience sea that she is the lady he referred to.

The second act takes place in the garlen of Austin Grandby's house. At the rise of the curtain all are assembled except Roxby and Garlan. The latter soon appears, intending to warn Grandby of the post of the woman he intends to marry, but after an interview in which she tells him all her story he consents to let it remain unknown. Matters are complicated by the appearance of Roxby, who, in the hope of establishing his innocence, has prevailed upon Mr. Magnum to introduce him under the name of Cooper. Roxby has a long interview with his former wife, in which he endeavors to regain her affections, but she tells him that the past is dead and can never be revived. She consents to allsw him to remain unknown, so that he may have the chance of proving his innocence of the forgery, which she has never doubted, but the curtain is lowered on her giving a flower that she has declared was destined for her future husband to Austin Grandby. Throughout this act there is some excellent comedy between Garlan and Mr. Sparkleigh and the two lovers who form the sub-plot, Fitzroy Smith and Cissy Grandby.

The third act takes place, after an interval of a few days, in the parior of Grandby's house. Roxby has vainly sought to gain an interview with his wife, and is urging her to meet him, when he is overheard by John Garlan, who has been watching them. In spite, however, of Garlan's precautions the meeting does take place, but is interrupted by Grandby, who, having learned through a similarity of handwritting that Roxby and Cooper are identical, has summoned the police and announces his intention of prosecuting Roxby. Upon this Garlan declares that he has all along known Raxby to be innocent, the r cicault commenced an engagement at the era House last night in his well known play haughraun" to the largest audience of the rite. Mr. Boucicault was supported by Mr. A. C. acre as Captain Molyneux, who plays the part in a rry acceptable manner. The Corry Kinehela found fair representative in Mr. Ben Maginley, though is good natured face was at times at variance with the rescality of the character. The Father Bolan of fr. Vinceni Hogan cannot be considered a success, arvey Duff was exercively done by Mr. J. A. Wilks, he Claire Ffolliott of the evening was Miss Ada yas, her original character, and she acted as she ways does—with that care and skill which has dis-nguished her since her appearance on the stage of the New York theatres. Miss Kate Gerard was a fair rie O'Neale, and as regards the Moya of Miss Helen aughton there is room for improvement. The play well mounted, the scenery is good and, taken altogether, "The Shaughraun" has met with another suc cessful reception in this city.

BOOTH'S THEATRE-"EVANGELINE" AND "BABES IN THE WOOD."

The bill at Booth's Theatre was altered last night by dropping the third act of "Evangeline," the olroom scene from "Babes in the Wood" being substituted. The change is somewhat for the better, for it enables some members of the company to appear in parts different from those in the first named play. One of these is Mr. Maffitt, who, as the play. One of these is Mr. Maffitt, who, as the tutor, is allowed to open his lips, which remain closed so tightly while they belong to the Lone Fisherman. Miss Eugenis Paul plays Sally, one of the Babes, capitally, though she lacks the voice that would aid the character, and Mr. Locke is more acceptable as the remaining infant than he is as Lo Blanc. Miss Larkelle dresses and locks as handsome as in other pieces, but has very little acting to do. Mr. Josephs successfully adds another feminine character to his reperfore, Mr. Lover was very grim and effective as the school-marm. One-half the motive power of the heifer in "Evangeline" appeared in a donkey, that pleased the audience mightily. The singing in "Babes in the Wood" was tolerable, and might have been listened to with greater interest if the orchestra had not forgotten what an accompaniment should be.

NIBLO'S GARDEN-THE "PEEP O' DAY." A fair andience gathered at Niblo's Garden Theatre to witness the performance of Edmund Falconer's well known Irish drams the "Peep o' Day; or, Sa-wourneen Deelish." The part of Harry Kavanagh, captain of the Peep o' Day Boys, was excellently sustained by Mr. Frank Evans. Stephen Purceil was represented by Mr. R. C. White, who acted carefully and with good effect. The hit of the evening, however, was made by Mr. J. F. Peters, who gave a strong representation of Black Mullins. Mr. Peters made his best points during the quarry scene, showing the alternate rulings of greed and repentance in the heart of the intended murderer of Kathleen. Miss Annie Word Tiffany and Miss Wilmer also deserve special mention for their performance as Kathleen Kavanagh and Mary Grace. The rest of the cast was good. The scenery was pretty and the mounting appropriate. The audience applicated diberally, and Messrs. Evans and Peters and Miss Tiffany received a recall at the end of the third act. In the "pattern" scene, a "Punch and Judy" show, a character performance by Messrs. Campbell and Barke, Irsh ballads, sung by Miss Requs, and sack and donkey racer were introduced. captain of the Peep o' Day Boys, was excellently

OLYMPIC THEATRE-"THE BARBARIAN." Maria Lovell's five act drama, "The Barbarian," was produced at the Olympic Theatre, with Mr. W. J. Fleming in the character of Ingomar and Miss J. Fleming in the character of Ingonar and Miss Florence Ellis as Parthenia. The audience was not very large, but compensated for lack of numbers by the recognition with which they rewarded the best afforts of the performers. The bonors were pretty evenly divided between the leading lady and gentle-man, who were frequently applicated. Mr. Edward Coleman as Polydor, and Mr. J. Delafield as Myron, also gave creditable performances. The rest of the cast was fair.

BROOKLYN PARK THEATRE-"MOTHER AND SON." The thrilling seefety drama of "Mother and Son" took its place on the boards of Colonel Sinn's cosey Park Theatre, Brooklyn, last evening, and was greefed of the piece as presented at the Union Square atre, this city, were aptly arranged for entertainment of the Brooklynites, and the cetting has much to do with the appreciation of the play was enhanced thereby. To the regular and excellent stock company, which by the way have had but four rehearsals of the piece which they so well performed, was added Miss Kute Meek, who enacted the part of the son of the noble lady, was well rendered by Mr. James M. Hardie, while Miss Rosa Rand's impersonation of Marcelle Aubrey won for her fresh laurels. In the "library scene" the drama fairly enthused the audience, so that the curtain was twice raised: and, in response to the encores, Misses Meek and Rand and Mr. Hardie were coupelled to make their appearance after the curtain had fallen. Miss Cora Tanner's representation of Clarisse Traband, the Mayor's wife, and Mr. R. F. McClannin's "Town Councillon," were deservedly well received, while Mr. George B. Edeson's delineation of the stage editor was too grotesque to be considered in any other light than that of low comedy. "Mother and Son" bespoke for themselves and the management a week of prosperity in the admirable performance last evening.

LOUISIANA ELECTION TROUBLES.

CHARGED WITH HOMICIDE-A FAIR CHANCE [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

While the State authorities have shown a singular zeal in the detention and custody of the witness Hornsby they have certainly exhibited a woeful want of interest in relation to James H. Alston, late candi-date for Sheriff in the parish of Caddo, who most days after the election in the streets of Shreveport.

corpus ad testificandum to give his testimony in the alleged cases of election frauds in the parish of Caldo. alleged cases of election frauds in the parish of Ca'do.

The writ in due form was served upon the Sheriff, of Caddo and he, willing to oblige somebody did not turn the prisoner over to the deputy marshal, but to a brother of the deputy, who did not oblect to make the trip to New Orleans. Of course, when this person in charge of the prisoner arrived in the city he could neither show he was deputy marshal or deputy sheriff, and the prisoner for a while seemed to be under the charge of neither State nor federal authorities. He was brought to the Marshal's office and this official retused to receive him, while the Sheriff of the city, strange to say, declined to take care of him as well.

AN ACCOMMODATIOG PRISONER.

Sheriff of the city, strange to say, declined to take care of him as well.

For a whole at least the prisoner seemed to be pretty much in the charge of himself, but with no disposition to take any advantage of the remarkable muddle that the authorities seemed to be in. Indeed, he expressed himself willing, even under the charge of no one, to remain and testify or return to the jail in Caddo, from which he had been brought, and there meet the charges that had been brought against him. To-day this question of custody was finsily settled before the United States District Court, and Alston, no doubt to his entire satisfaction, definitely disposed of at least for the present. He is now in charge of the Federal authorities and will be held here until the case in which he is called as witness comes up for trial, which will, probably, be about the 13th prox. In turning the custody of the prisoner over to the federal authorities, Judge Billings declared it to be his purpose to restore him to the State after he shall have testified, that the law in all respects may take its course.

TAMMANY PRIMARIES.

CHOOSING AN OLD NEW GENERAL COMMITTEE

es not follow that the same esuit was obtained by the same methods, it is to be remarked that not even in the palmy days of Tweed and Sweeny, when the rank and file of the clans met to learn who had been designated their chiefs for a year, and when harmony had been arranged for in advance, did the Tamman primaries proceed with more machine like precisio than last night. As a rule, the attendance at the various Assembly districts was small, and the and Twenty-first districts the attendance was muc it is difficult to see any reason for this fact other than the paradoxical one that there the troubles in the republican party had been most marked. There was not an opposition ticket in any district in the city, and little or no scratching, except in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Assembly districts where a name of no political import was occasionally struck off from purely personal motives. A glance at some of the names in the various Assembly districts will show that there, has been no change of note in the composition of the body chosen last ovening to represent Tammany Hall in the General Committee of 1879. In the First Assembly district Patrick G. Duffy, Denis Keenan, Denis Quinn, Nicholas Muller and James H. Masligan were, of course, among the delegates. In the Second district the names of such familiar lights as William P. Kirk, Jeremish Hartigan, "Jinmy" Oliver, and Mark Lanigan appear. Jance J. Slevin and a long list of others unknown to fame as yet will add their himmer to the Tammany Hall blaze of high-souled statesmanship. "Tommy" Shells—the Diogenes of the Board of Aldermen, the innocent who wants the press to tell him where the "jobs" come in—is at the head of the ticket in the Fourth Assembly district, "av coorse." The long array of other names from the same district shows them to be of the same race as Tammany, but, perhaps, not of the same kidney. County Clerk Gumbleton and Peter Mitchell, from the Fifth district, are among those still willing to sacrifice themselves for the welfare of Tammany. "Tim" Campbell, of forensic fame, is here from the Sixth, and Alfred Wagataff and James Riley from the Seventh. The Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh districts sent delegates not as yet noted in Tammany councils; but the Eleventh brought to the front Augustus Schell, John T. Agnew, Welliam Bauer and Townsend Cox, Henry Weltman and Patrick Keenan, and an than the paradoxical one that there the troubles i enth brought to the front Augustus Schell, John T. Agnew, William Sauer and Townsead Cox, Henry Woltman and Patrick Keonan, and an array of delegates about equally selected from Teuton and Celt are the standard bearers of the Twelfth. In the Thirteenth district the name of Police Commissioner Sidney P. Nichols loomed up at the head of the ticket. Sherif Reilly and Peter Gillespie headed the ticket in the Fourteenth, Richard J. Morrison in the Fifteenth, Frank Spirola from the Sixteenth, Frederick Smyth from the Seventeenth, John Kelly from the Eighteenth and Henry L. Clinton, of course; Thomas C. Ecclesine, Sheppard F. Knapp and John E. Devlin are among the delegates from the Nineteenth: Michael Tnomey and Charles E. Loew from the Twentioth, John McQuade from the Twenty-first, while, finally, the Twenty-second district (comprising the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards) had Samuel G. Courtney at the head of its ticket.

DEMOCRATS REORGANIZING.

AN APPLE OF DISCORD AMONG THE BANK AND FILE IN HUDSON COUNTY, N. J.

A largely attended meeting of democrats was held last night at the Catholic Institute, Jersey City, for the purpose of adopting a new constitution for the reorganization of the party in Hudson county. At the last election the county, which is usually largely democratic, elected a republican Congressman and Sheriff. This result was brought about through the disaffeca republican Congressman and Sheriff. This result was brought about through the disaffection existing against the General Committee and the organization of an antagonistic body, with cr.-Senator Charles H. Winfield at its head. The latter organization recently declined a conference with the General Committee, and organized a new County Committee. The constitution offered last night had been prepared by leading democrats and approved by the General Committee. On the platform were United States Senator McPherson, Congressman Hardenbergh, cr.-Senator Abbett, Assemblyman H. J. McDonald, Colonel John Hart, ex-Assemblyman Harris and other prominent democrats. Senator McPherson was elected chairman and Counsellor William McAdoo secretary. The only disturbance which took place was while the list of vice presidents was being read. A man in the audience protested against the name of Henry Carroll being offered from the Third district, because Mr. Carroll was a director of the defunct Mcchanics and Laborers' Savings Bank in which the depositors were generally poor people who are now unable to obtain their money. Mr. Carroll declared that he had always been a stanch democrat, and, although a director of the definite bank, defied any man to accuse hint of having ever stolen a dollar. His remarks created considerable confusion which subsided when he declined to act as a vice president. The secretary then proceeded to read the new constitution, which repeals till of the General Committee, no member of which can be elected for more than two terms in succession. Remarks were made by Senator Abbett and others, after which the constitution was alopted. Resolutions were also adopted authorizing the chairman to appoint a provisional committee, and the meeting adjourned.

SERIOUS CHARGES OF FRAUD BROUGHT AGAINST

RIM. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 30, 1878. A despatch received from Portland, Oregon, says:—
For about two months the commission appointed by the Legislature of Oregon has been investigating books and papers connected with the State Department. Its report, now submitted, shows that funds to the amount of $75,000 have either been unaccounted for or paid out without authority of law. Among these amounts are the following items:—Swamp land fund unaccounted for, $75,876; illegal fees paid for conveying convicts and insane persons to places of confinement, $37,382; quartermaster stores in the Modoc war unecounted for, $13,200; overpaid to Secretary of State Chadwick, $3,000; and to his assistant, T. H. Cann, $1,800; school and school land funds, about $9,000 deficiency. Since the close of the late state administration T. H. Cann has paid to the Treasurer $5,200 belonging to the various State funds, and declares his abuilty and willingness to pay all that is due the State from official transactions that came within his supervision. The roport is very severe in its A despatch received from Portland, Oregon, says:-

RANSACKED BY BURGLARS.

diate vicinity of Police Headquarters last night was Mr. Peter Scheffler, of No. 282 Mulberry street, when he discovered that thieves had street, when he discovered that thieves had carried away the greater portion of his house-hold worldly goods. He had been amusing himself in the partor playing eards with his family. Subsequently he went up stairs and turned on the gas. A glauce more than satisfied him that intruders had been in the house, The several rooms were ransacked, and all the portable articles of value carried away. The bedienthing, articles of wearing apparel and jewery were missing. He made an investigation of the premises and discovered that the burglars had effected an entrance by the rear basement door, and, once in the house, stole stealthily to the upper part of the premises, where they helped themselves to Mr. Scheffler's personal effects, and escaped with the booty. Having discovered his loss he repaired to the Central Office and laid the case before Inspector Murray.

WHERE HAS SHE GONE?

Henry Bruening, a saloon keeper, had three daughhis customers was a young man who came to reside at his customers was a young man who came to resuce as No. 103 Eighth street about nine months ago and who soon was recognized as the accepted lover of Lizzio Bruering, twenty years of age. Yesterday a postal card was sent to Bruering asking him to go to Fifty-second street. He went, and on his return be found his daughter gone. It is alleged that she and the young man were seen going over Barelay street ferry.

CHAFFING CAMPANA.

Campana, the pedestrian, better known as "Old Sport," accompanied by his young wife, last night visited Tony Pastor's Theatre, on Broadway. He visited Tony Pastor's Theatre, on Broadway. He was dressed in a red shirt and wore a tight-fitting velvel cap. The pair occupied a private box, and during the performance they were frequently cheered by the gamins in the gallery. When the show was over Campana and his wife left the theatre. They were followed up Broadway by fully a hundred urchins, who taunted him about his defent by O'Leary, and were crowding in on him when Captain McDonnell came to his rescue and dispersed the unruly mob.
